

WANTS TWENTY THOUSAND

The City Sued for the Value of a Vagrant's Eye.

HE WAS BREAKING ROCK.

And Says the City Did Not Provide Him with Proper Tools.

A $5,000 Damage Case Against the City Now on Trial—Nine Jurors Bring in a Verdict Against E. L. Davis—Court Notes.

Gay C. Royce filed a $50,000 damage suit against Salt Lake city in the Third district court yesterday.

The plaintiff alleges that on or about January 23 of the present year he was arrested and upon a hearing in the police court was convicted of vagrancy and sentenced to imprisonment in the city jail for a period of sixty days. He further alleges that while he was confined in the said jail he was unlawfully and wrongfully compelled, against his will and consent, to engage in breaking rock for the purpose of grading and paving the streets, and while so engaged he was struck in the face by a piece of stone, which resulted in the loss of the sight of one eye and seriously injured the other one. He alleges negligence and carelessness on the part of the city in failing to provide them with suitable tools and a safe place in which to work, and basis his claim upon that and other named grounds.

FOR A BROKEN ARM.

Three Thousand Dollar Damage Suit Against the City Now on Trial.

A damage suit against the city, in which Elizabeth Tucker and her husband are the plaintiffs, was taken up before Judge Kane.

The complaint alleges that the city, some time ago, caused to be constructed on the north side of Third South street, between Main and West Temple streets, in front of the McKinnon heavy stable, a wide sidewalk of cement, iron and glass. On March 8, 1892, while Mrs. Tucker was traversing the said street and at the point named, she slipped and fell. The fall resulted in a broken arm and other injuries of a less serious nature. She was confined to her bed for some time and expended about $500 for medical services. It is alleged that the city was careless and negligent in allowing such a sidewalk to be constructed, and damages are demanded in the sum of $3,000 for the injuries resulting from such negligence.

Frank B. Stephens and Gen. C. Smith appeared for the plaintiffs, and E. D. Hoge for the city.

The case was proceeded with up to the hour of adjournment and will be resumed this morning.

VERDICT BY NINE JURORS.

Davis Loses His Damage Suit Against Ellerbeck and Others.

The $1,000 damage suit of E. C. Davis vs. E. M. Ellerbeck and Theodore Heinemann was resumed and both sides rested at 12 o'clock.

D. M. Strump made the opening argument for the prosecution and was followed by Parley L. Williams for the defense. Judge Powers then closed the case and it reached the jury by the middle of the afternoon.

As stated in yesterday's HERALD, the plaintiff alleged that he was kicked, beat and bruised and that Ellerbeck also drew a gun on him and threatened to kill him, and he was damaged $1,000 as a result of his injuries.

At 5 o'clock the jury returned into court with a verdict in favor of the defendant signed by nine of the twelve jurors.

THOSE THIRTEEN TRUNKS.

Attorney Hall Paid $150 for $400 Worth of Goods.

Clarence Hall, the attorney, thinks he has at last made a winning move in the matter of the thirteen trunks which have furnished the lower courts with a large amount of business recently. Hall is the attorney for a San Francisco firm, and when M. Drosowits made an assignment at Ogden and claimed to have sold the thirteen trunks and their contents to J. Petrovsky of this city, he promptly attached them upon their arrival here. Petrovsky of course demurred, and brought suit against the marshal for the possession of the trunks. The case was heard by jury trial, and they returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the trunks or $150. Hall claims that the trunks are worth fully $400, being filled with fur-lined goods, and he paid the amount of the judgment yesterday and is now in undisputed possession of the stuff.

HIGHER MATHEMATICS.

Interesting Papers Read at Last Night's Meeting.

"Mathematics as Applied to Mining," Treated in an Able Manner—Geometric Systems of the Ancients.

At the meeting of the Mathematical society last evening in the Utah university, three papers were read. The first was by Professor Chamberlain of the Latter-day Saint college on "Descartes and Cartesian Geometry," the second by Mr. J. B. Stevenson on "The Value of Mathematics as Applied to Mining," and the third was by Mr. Leaver on the "Origin and Practical Use of Mathematical Signs."

Professor Chamberlain, who spoke extempore and illustrated his subject by demonstrations on the black board, said that the ancient geometers were Plato, Aristotle and Archimedes. By the system of geometry practiced by the ancients there was no logical sequence between the problems, each one being separate and distinct, and the solution of one did not aid in the solution of another. Descartes was the first to make any decided step in advance, and he introduced the system of geometry in use at the present day, particularly the method of representing geometrical quantities by algebraic symbols. The main ideas in analytical geometry were given out by Descartes, except in the case of solid geometry, which was developed at a later date.

He characterized geometry as the origin of the science of mechanics, one of the broadest, most exhaustive, and most useful sciences known to man.

Mr. Stevenson traced the development of the steam engine from the time of Watt, the inventor, to Erickson, down to the present time, and noted the many improvements which have been in it. He said that mining engineering dated from the invention of the steam engine.

Although mining was in crude way practiced thousands of years ago, the extraction of ores and the present system of mining came in the wake of the steam engine. Mathematics and physics are the essentials to mining engineering, and a good engineer must necessarily be a mathematician and a physicist to enable him to bend nature to his will.

Trigonometry was especially valuable in placer mining and in tunneling. He said not like Jacob's ladder which rested on the earth, the ladder of the scientist rested on mathematics and reached to infinity.

Mr. Leaver gave a short address on the origin and use of mathematical signs, which, although elementary in its character, was interesting, instructive and of a good deal of practical value.

The next meeting of the society and the last for the year will be held in about two weeks, when Mr. Neil will read a paper on "Civil Engineering," and Mr. Rawlins will talk on "The value of mathematics as a means of mental discipline."

HELD FOR BURGLARY.

Commissioner Pratt Sends the Three Suspects Back to Jail.

A Hoodlum Fined $50 for Kissing a Row in a Rapid Transit Car and Assaulting an Officer.

The examination of Arthur Flint, Charles Carter, William Davis and James Keefe, on the charge of burglarizing the residence of Maynard Bixley, on Seventh East street a short time ago, was held before Commissioner Pratt yesterday. Assistant County Attorney Elkins presiding and John Anderson defending.

The evidence for the prosecution showed that Keefe had nothing to do with the crime, and he was discharged, but a strong case was made out against the other three.

Flint was identified as having been in the vicinity of Mr. Bixley's residence on the night of the burglary, and it was further shown that the stolen goods, consisting of a dozen razors, a seal skin bag and mail and some silverware, were found in the possession of Flint, Carter and Davis at the time of their arrest.

The defendants made a desperate effort to clear Flint, who is a married man, but the testimony was all of a decidedly fishy character.

Carter stated that a short time after the burglary, he met an old acquaintance named Casey near the Rio Grande depot, and the latter handed him a satchel containing the stolen property, asking him to keep it for him. Casey then vanished from the scene, and Carter took the goods to Flint.

The court evidently did not take much stock in this tale, and held the three defendants to answer for the same on jury, and fixing their bonds at $1,000 each. They were unable to find sureties, of course, and went back to jail.

A HOODLUM FINED.

He Captured a Street Car, But It Cost Him $50.

F. Blake and A. E. Wilson, two young men whose appearance and conduct indicate that they are thorough young hoodlums, were arraigned in the police court yesterday, on the charge of assault and battery and disturbing the peace.

The evidence showed that on Thursday night the defendants boarded the Rapid Transit car, and began using profane language in the presence of lady passengers. The conductor, C. H. Platt, ordered them to stop, and the fellows at once assaulted him. While the row was in progress, Deputy Sheriff Leslie boarded the car and undertook to quell the disturbance.

The trouble caused by the two hoodlums, who were kicking him in the head and body when he was down, in the most brutal manner. Judge Gee fined Blake $50, and Wilson's trial was set for tomorrow.

George Edgar, charged with assaulting a neighbor named Anderson, pleaded guilty and was fined $2.

John Leach, charged with assaulting a woman named Loherty, James Maloney, W. W. Montague and Wm. Conway were sent up for ten days each for vagrancy.

Joseph Brown, charged with stealing four boxes of hay belonging to Henry & Norrell, was acquitted.

Two plain drunks were assessed $5 each. John Leland, who resides on South State street, not only refused to pay the tax on his dog when Galeazzi called at his house yesterday morning, but also resisted an officer. The result was that he was fined $5 in the police court and had to pay the license in addition.

MONTANA CHARLEY HAPPY.

His Partner Surrenders the Wild West Wardrobe.

O. F. Odell, the partner of John Le Moss, "Montana Charley," for whom a warrant was issued in Justice Whitehouse's court Thursday, charging him with embezzlement, was arrested by Sheriff McQueen, and taken to the jail of the city Thursday night, and the party including Odell's newly-made wife, returned to Zion. Odell very readily delivered up his "Montana Charley's" wardrobe and the long-haired wild west performer reciprocated by withdrawing the charge of embezzlement against his former partner. In the meantime, however, Odell had been arrested on attachment proceedings against Odell and his outfit is now under the supervision of a lynx-eyed official, awaiting further developments. The outfit is now in the east of the county court house, and Odell and his bride are enjoying their honeymoon with almost as much relief as if they were in the most secluded spot of the mountains' fastness.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

A Drunken Porter Insults and Slaps a Lady on the Street.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, Charles A. Fox, a porter at the Wave saloon, accosted a respectable lady on Third South street, west of the Clift house, and asked her to go to his room. She indignantly informed him that she was not in that kind of business, and Fox who was considerably under the influence of liquor, slapped her in the face. The lady screamed, and Officer White promptly arrived on the scene and placed the fellow under arrest. Wishing to avoid any unpleasant notoriety, the victim of the assault asked that her identity be not made public, and the officer complied with her request by withholding her name. Fox will be given a chance to explain his conduct in the police court this morning.

Butterfield Taken Back.

Sheriff Belpas came down from Ogden yesterday afternoon and took back T. C. Butterfield, the young man who is charged with obtaining money from one Gibson by means of false pretenses.

French Profanity.

Nelle Margaret, a French nympho d'ave, was arrested by Officer Larsen yesterday for using abusive language.

HOME MARKETS.

What There Is in Town to Buy for Your Sunday Dinner.

A car load of California vegetables came in last week, but those expressed, that should have arrived yesterday, failed to get here. They are looked for this morning and will consequently be unusually fresh.

Cauliflower, snow white heads large and firm, are selling at 15 and 20c. per lb.; new potatoes coming in freely and are large and cheap, selling at 4 lbs. for 25c. Utah onions are all gone; the California dried onions have been sent in; Utah asparagus is abundant, selling at 10c. per lb. Some of it is allowed to grow too far out of the ground and is rank, but that which is properly attended to is deliciously sweet and tender. Utah spinach is at last week's prices, 2 lbs. for 25c.; tomatoes are looked for this morning and will sell for 50c. per lb. There were no mushrooms in the market yesterday. A few cucumbers were to be seen at 2 for 25c. Lettuce is in good quantities at 5c. per head; radishes were selling 2 bunches for 5c.; peas 2 lbs. for 25c.; pea plant 5c. per lb.

POULTRY, EGGS AND BUTTER.

Poultry is in fair proportion to the demand at 20c. per pound; spring chickens are coming in more freely, but are yet high; ducks and turkeys are 25c. per pound; game has entirely disappeared; squabs at last prices, 35c. per pair. Eggs are 15c. per dozen for best ranch. Butter, creamery, is at last figures, but dairy is lower.

MEATS AND LARD.

Lamb is on hand in good quantities and good size at last week's quotations, $1 and $1.25 for fore quarter; hind quarter, $1.50. Mutton is improving, 15c. per pound; the last figure, 15c. per pound; 25c. per pound; brains, two pounds for 25c.; spare ribs, 25c.; bacon has gone up 20c. per pound for fancy, second choice for 18c. per pound; lard, this grade, 15c. 10c. and 11c. is the price of the different sized cans.

FISH.

This market is much better supplied today. Mountain trout is fine and large in good quantities, too, at 25c. per pound; Alaska cod at 20c. per pound; Mackinaw trout, white fish, pike and pickerel are on sale at 20c. per pound; shrimps 20c. per quart; salmon in good quantities at 25c. per pound.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Sugar higher; 14 and 12 lbs. for $1 is what dealers are willing to take; very little C sugar in the market. Dates 15c. per pound; figs 20 to 25c. per pound. Soap is lower, Clarette $1.50 wholesale, 17 bars for $1.

SEEDS.

Corn—Extra early, Cory, 25c. per qt.; extra early, Adams, 20c. per qt.; early Minnesota, 25c. per qt.; early Perry's hybrid, 25c. per qt.; Stowell's evergreen, 25c. per qt.; corn seed, 10c. per bushel.

Beans, Bush or dwarf—Red Valentine, 30c. per qt.; yellow six weeks, 30c. per qt.; bush Lima (Henderson's), 50c. per qt.; flaglets, 35c. per qt.; golden wonder, 35c. per qt.; German black wax, 30c. per qt.; dwarf horticultural, 30c. per qt.

Rich Red Blood
Results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mr. Chas. Walker of San Francisco.

"For several years I have been troubled with blotches and pimples on my face and body, which were very annoying. I tried several prescriptions, and also other medicines, but they did not seem to benefit me. Last fall a friend advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was determined to give it a trial.

A Thorough Trial.

After using two bottles, my skin returned to its natural state. I still use it as it gives me strength and vigor. I never had better health in my life, and I owe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Chas. Walker, with Carl M. Co., 48 Eighth Street, San Francisco.
